

I want the Do-Not-Call list to be left alone. I feel that if I took my time to go in and make sure my name and number was on the list that that shouldn't give business people the right to take it away, no matter what situation comes up. Those companies that want the right back to call should not have it just because they lost customers. If they lost customers it's for a good reason and should not be given free rein to call and harass former customers. If they want to keep those customers then they need to make their business better or more competitive. DO NOT make the people who signed up for this list be the victims in this case! Make business hold themselves accountable for their actions!!
